

James Hersch

James Hersch is an artist who paints pictures with his songs.

His music invites us in as his words color the canvas...

A brush with true emotion gives us permission to look within.

Perhaps not a folk singer, but a man who sings for folks...

An artist who sings folks songs about themselves.

Their stories are his stories ...

History in a modern style.

He tells us tales of days gone by and makes them come alive...

Presents from the past that will thrive in days to come.

His voice is warm, clear, and lyrical. His guitar ...

Crisp, deep, precise. His songs speak of hope and hopelessness, of homes and the homeless, of grandmas and grandpas, of memories dark and light.

He has the wholesome look of the paperboy and the lonesome view of a man on tour.

Now he's delivering nationwide, traveling to towns and colleges...

Learning life lessons while his songs are teaching theirs.

by scott jones